ZEIDER CLEANS UP BASES

Hammers Out a Triple in the Eighth Inning and Spoils Hoff's Good Work.

With young Hoff pitching sensational ball, the Yankees seemed in a fair way to defeat the Chicago White Sox in the game at American League Park yesterday after noon, but Zeider delivered a telling punch in the form of a triple with the bases full in the eighth inning, forcing the game little southpaw to take the count. Away went visions of victory, and the New York team 'blew" in its own delightful fashion. The last two frames were terrible to behold, forming a sharp contrast to the work done in the early stanzas. The visitors won by a score of 10 to 4, making it two out of three for the series. Hoff and Benz engaged in a pretty battle at the start, with the honors all in favor of the New York youngster. The Bronx boy allowed the White Sox only five hits in the first seven innings and held them to one run. He gave one pass and struck out seven batsmen. Sharp fielding, which bordered on the sensational when Birdie Cree robed Sullivan of an extra base wallon in the second inning, helped Hoff considerably and enabled him to pull out of some vicious looking holes. In the fourth and seventh innings the first two mer up reached first safely, but Hoff did not allow a run to cross the plate.

Benz, the brilliant protege of Ed Walsh, was not a particularly difficult proposition for the Yankees, and he was compelled to retire from the game after six innings of work. During that time his moist delivery was good for eight hits. He, too, had the benefit of crackling support. Harry Lord and Weaver doing yeoman work. But when a pinch hitter was needed in the seventh Benz retired and Peters finished the game. The latter wabbled considerably, giving two passes and allowing four hits, but Ed Walsh, who was in reserve

Lord's single and Bodie's double gave the White Sox a lead of one run in the first inning. Then they drifted along without scoring until the eighth. Rath led off in this frame by drawing a pass. Lord singled to right and Callahan rapped one through third, bringing Rath home. Bodie attempted a sacrfice bunt, and Hoff unwisely tried to throw Lord out taking third, but failed Thus the bases were filled. Collins dribbled to the box and Lord was forced at the plate for the first out, but Zeider whaled the sphere to the left field fence for three bases, cleaning up the bags and scoring three runs. This finished Hoff, and Vaughn went to the rescue, Weaver fouled to Sweeney, but Sullivan hit to centre, scoring Zeider, after which Peters struck out.

Four more runs were added in the ninth at the expense of McConnell, Vaughn letting Wolverton bat for him in the last of the eighth. Rath led off with a single. Hartzell's throw of Lord's tap skimmer through Chase, letting Rath score, Calle han walked and Bodie sacrificed, putting ATHLETICS WALLOP BROWNS Lord on third and his manager on second Both scored on a passed ball. McConnell passed Zeider after striking out Collins. He stole second and third, and scored when Chase muffed a toss by Hartzell on Weaver's roller. Weaver stole second and third also, while Sullivan walked, but the former was run down between third and iome on an attempted double steal.

With two out and Hartzell on first in the fourth inning. Benz picked a slow, puzzling grounder off Martin's bat and heavel it to the bleachers, letting Hartzell score. Martin crossed the plate after Rath accidentally kicked Sweeney's hit Callahan's territory. In the sixth three ratchy hits by Simmons, Hartzell and Martin filled the bases, with one out. Simmons then tallied on Sweeney's sacrifice fly to Callahan. Hoff was an easy out.

Daniels opened the ninth with his third hit, a single to centre. Zinn lifted to Bodie, but Chase and Cree both hit safely to centre, scoring Daniels. Simmons, however, dribbled to the box, and Hartzell rolled to Zeider.

The Tigers' batting was very weat when hits would have meant runs, and t was entirely through the visiting team errors that they were able to score at all Not a single run was made by Princeton through clean hitting. The squeeze play was worked twice by the Tigers for two runs, Smith, the Michigan pitcher, in both instances handling the bunts in poor style Greenbaum started in the box for Prince ton, but lasted only four innings, the vist. tors scoring their only runs during that time. He was wild and ineffective with men on bases. Rogers, who relieved his was never in danger, allowing three scattered hits and giving only one bar balls. Both Greenbaum and Smith lacked control, and this, coupled with their slow delivery, helped to stretch the game ou interminably. Rogers served them u faster when he went into the box, and the Tigers broke the monotony by pulling off wild throwing with men on bases, no fewer than six bad throws being uncorked, all of which helped materially in the scoring The work of Rogers and Lavans stood out in great contrast to that of their teammates, the former's throwing being especially good, not a Tiger getting a stoler
